Q & A

What are some of the more unique features folks are adding to their home landscape these days?

- Low voltage LED lighting continues to grow as a way to highlight a home landscape and architecture.
- Look for plants providing seasonal interest; flowers, interesting bark and berries. Plant with bloom times in mind to keep the color going from spring to fall with perennials and annuals.
- Adding outdoor structures, artwork and container plantings can help to soften hardscaping while adding uniqueness to your property.
- Creating an outdoor living environment offers a great return on investment, increasing a home's value for those looking to sell their house. Landscapes complemented by custom hardscapes, including patios, fire pits and outdoor kitchens, plus accent lighting and water features further boost its attractiveness.
